ADULT FILM DIRECTOR DAVID LORD

David Lord has been in the adult business for more than 20 years and has dedicated himself to directing on a full-time basis for the last six years. Whether the movie he is working on is a comedy, parody, or gonzo film, he enjoys expressing his creativity through his direction. Lord's goal is to consistently provide adult fans with enjoyable, quality adult products that reflect his commitment to his work. We'd like to thank David and Adam & Eve Pictures for making this interview possible.

UC: How and when did your career in the adult industry begin? Did you start out as a director or somewhere else within the industry?

DL: I started in 1988 as a sales representative for a company called Western Visuals, selling video tapes to stores and distributors. I didn't start directing full-time until 2004.

UC: What kind of work did you do before you entered the business? Have your prior experiences influenced your current career?

DL: I worked as a veterinarian's assistant so that work hasn't really impacted my adult career.

UC: What misconceptions do people have about you and/or your work?

DL: They assume that I have sex with all the actresses and that is all that we do. We'd never get any work done if that were the case!

UC: What do you most enjoy about directing?

DL: The creative aspect of it. I love taking a script and making it come to life. If it's gonzo I like the aspect of letting the viewer at home feel like he is right there in the room. I enjoy capturing the action in such a way that they have the best viewing experience possible.

UC: What awards/nominations/honors have you won thus far?

Photos: Adam & Eve

DL: I won awards for Best Vignette two years in a row, in addition to awards for Best Cinematography, Best Video of the Year (as a producer) and for Best DVD of the Year. It was also an honor to be nominated for Best Director, as well as garnering nominations in a number of other categories.

UC: Who and/or what are your influences (both in and out of the adult world)?

DL: My mainstream influences are Tarantino, the Coen brothers, Tim Burton, and some Tony Scott movies. On the porn side for features it would be Brad Armstrong, Nick Andrews, Lee Roy Myers, Greg Dark, and some Michael Raven. For gonzo I admire Bruce Seven, Johnny Darko, and Erik Everhard.

UC: Do you tend to specialize in just one or two genres or do you prefer greater variety in the types of films you work on?

DL: I like darker movies or comedies although I can do pretty much anything. I just love the movie-making process.

UC: What components make an adult film successful?

DL: I believe the formula for success is plenty of hot sex, a good box, and obviously, you have to have some star power.

UC: What distinguishes you as a director? What is/are your signature(s)?

DL: I think that would be my consistency. I think for the most part when you get one of my movies you will see the care that goes into making it. I love edgy looks and angles although I don't always get to shoot that type of movie. It doesn't matter if it's a romantic comedy, parody, thriller, or a gonzo because I will always give it 110%, and you will see that in the final product.

UC: For you, what is an ideal sex-to-storyline ratio? Do you think that's consistent with or different from current trends in the industry?

DL: Consistent for the most part. I think a 20-minute sex scene with a narrative seems to work. As far as gonzo, around 30-35 minutes seems to be what feels right, though I have shot an hour-long scene. That was just magic.

UC: Do you ever appear in any of your films, either in sexual or non-sexual roles? Why or why not?

DL: No, I don't because adult is already my life and I don't want it to be my sexuality as well.

UC: Assuming you had no limitations on budget, location, cast, etc., describe your dream film.

DL: Anything over 50k is a headache, so something that is sexually erotic, visually stunning, edgy, and keeps you interested in watching it would be a dream, along with a smooth-running set during production.

UC: Do you think of your films as a way to convey a message to your audience? If so, what message are you trying to send?

DL: I am not curing cancer here; I am just trying to entertain people. If I had to pick the message, I'd say love life and love sex.

UC: How is today's porn better (or worse) than the porn of years past? What direction do you see it headed?

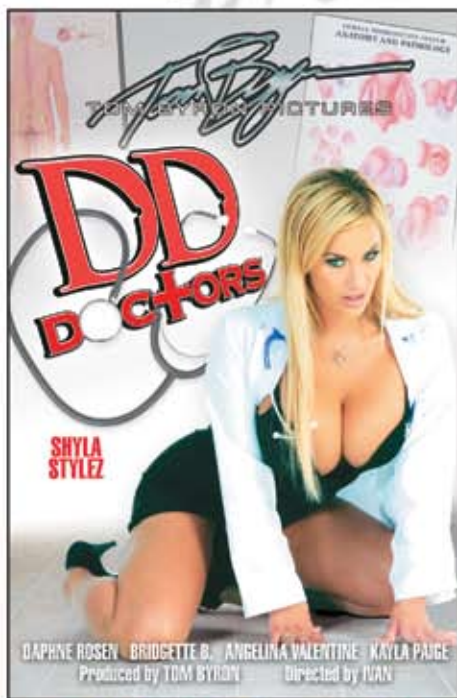

DL: After 20 plus years in adult I have seen a lot; it comes in waves. We're going through a tough period right now, but it will pick back up. I think that IPTV and On Demand will be the next big things, as well as 3D once it becomes more cost-effective. I think stores and hard goods will always be around. People like something tangible that they can hold in their hands.

UC: What projects are you currently working on?

DL: A big show called Killer Bodies. Watch for it next year.

UC: Are there other details you'd like to share with us?

DL: I'd just like to ask everyone to keep checking out my movies. I hope you enjoy them!
